

The Tale of the Two Wolves

There's a story from the Native American tradition which explains different ways of paying attention. An elder talking to a child says, I have two wolves fighting in my heart: One wolf is mean, angry and jealous. The other wolf is loving, generous and peaceful. The child asks which wolf will win the fight? The elder responds, the one I feed.

